Will meet graduation requirement for American History

- A. Major Concepts/Content. The purpose of this course is to enable students to understand the development of the United States within the context of history with a major focus on the post-Reconstruction period. Students will use knowledge pertaining to history, geography, economics, political processes, religion, ethics, diverse cultures, and humanities to solve problems in academic, civic, social, and employment settings.

The content should include, but not be limited to, the following:

- review of U.S. History prior to 1880
- time-space relationships
- significant events and trends in the development of United States culture and institutions
- impact of expansion on the United States
- origin of United States documents, ideals, and characteristics
- the changing role of the U.S. Constitution
- political, social, and economic conflicts and resolutions
- technological and urban transformation of the United States
- changes in lifestyles of United States citizens
- changes in United States foreign policy from regional to global
- cyclical characteristics of United States economic development
- contemporary domestic and foreign issues that affect the United States

This course shall integrate the Goal 3 Student Performance Standards of the Florida System of School Improvement and Accountability as appropriate to the content and processes of the subject matter.

- B. Special Note. Students earning credit in American History Honors may not earn credit in both Visions and Their Pursuits: An American Tradition -- U.S. History to 1920 (2100380) and Visions and Countervisions: Europe, the United States, and the World from 1848 (2100390), or in American History (2100310).

Course requirements that emphasize the period from 1880 to the present do not preclude coverage of the period prior to 1880.

Requirement 1 and Benchmarks SS.A.4.4.1 - SS.A.4.4.6 are to be used as review of M/J United States History (2100010).

The course requirements for this honors course are consistent with American History, Course Number 2100310. The district shall develop a description of additional requirements to provide for in-depth or enriched study of the course requirements.

- C. Course Requirements. These requirements include, but are not limited to, the benchmarks from the Sunshine State Standards that are most relevant to this course. Benchmarks correlated with a specific course requirement may also be addressed by other course requirements as appropriate.
