- A. Major Concepts/Content. The purpose of this course is to provide students with the knowledge and decision-making tools necessary for understanding how society organizes its limited resources to satisfy its wants. Students will gain understanding of choices they must make as producers, consumers, investors, and taxpayers.

The content should include, but not be limited to, the following:

- economic reasoning
- principles of decision-making in the marketplace
- productive resources
- scarcity and choices
- opportunity costs and trade-offs
- economic incentives
- interdependence
- contemporary and historical economic issues
- personal economic skills
- role of money
- government and financial institutions
- labor

This course shall integrate the Goal 3 Student Performance Standards of the Florida System of School Improvement and Accountability as appropriate to the content and processes of the subject matter.

- B. Special Note. Students earning credit in this course may not earn credit in Economics (2102310) or The American Economic Experience: Scarcity and Choice (2102380).

The course requirements for this honors course are consistent with Economics, Course Number 2102310. The district shall develop a description of additional requirements to provide for in-depth or enriched study of the course requirements.

- C. Course Requirements. These requirements include, but are not limited to, the benchmarks from the Sunshine State Standards that are most relevant to this course. Benchmarks correlated with a specific course requirement may also be addressed by other course requirements as appropriate.
